

Cost of Accreditation

NMMS accreditation fees are established by the NMMS CME Committee and periodically revised relative to operational costs of the program. Standard accreditation fees include the pre-application fee, self-study fee, annual fee, and site surveyor travel expenses.

The Committee may evaluate an organization's accreditation status prior to its designated date for resurvey if interim information indicates that the organization has undergone substantial changes and/or may no longer be in compliance with the Essential Areas. In such case, additional non-standard resurvey fees may apply.
